BY WAY OF PREFACE

Today we launch forth to explore the sea of journalism. The sky may seem a little cloudy; the season may appear inopportune for such a venture; breakers may be ahead but our sturdy crew drawing remains a student next and thusian pride to are education for which tude, and the current erable li not conc educator should l mation :

one such opportunity is offered by a school paper appearing at frequent intervals. To every student of Canisius we extend an invitation to co-operate with us in this enterprise. The paper is yours, and to make it a success should be your aim and ambition. If you will lend it your hearty support we feel confident that the ship christened today will happily ride the waves and bear many generations of Canisius' sons onward towards the acquirement of a finished English style.

J. M. DONLIN.

HOW IT CAME ABOUT

The thought of publishing a High School paper was first suggested to us by the example of certain enterprising students of another Jesuit School, which, not to wound

In the Europe of 1555, a young man called Peter Canisius was putting the finishing touches on a book important to those religiously-strained times, a catechism. Centuries later, in 1915, American students in a school bearing his name tried to match his giant steps across literature's threshold. The result was The Arena. On the 500th anniversary of the publication of his catechism, The Arena dedicates its 40th anniversary issue to St. Peter Canisius.

As we share his surname in common, we also share his devotion, diligence and way of doing things. We sit at his feet to learn the values he held necessary and sacred. We like being known by his name, and we like the picture linked to that name: a young man and brilliant, who could found six universities in thirty years; a young man and brave, who could carry Catholicism's torch into the face of the reformation.

We have the benefit both of his insight into man's purpose and his way of teaching it; and as the world makes obvious, we have our own torch to carry. We salute a man and his courage. May we have some part of that courage, cause some part of the result he did, and may the torch burn brighter for our holding it, as it did in his hands.

mates, it is hoped that we shall be able easily to publish an issue of our paper every fortnight.

FRANCIS C. McGUIRE.

The thing we call a rose

By any other name would smell as sweet. So Shakespeare says. And yet we know how great great store people set by a name; what anxious thoughts, for instance, it provokes on the part of a mother or sister when a little nameless creature presents itself as a can-

In Memoriam

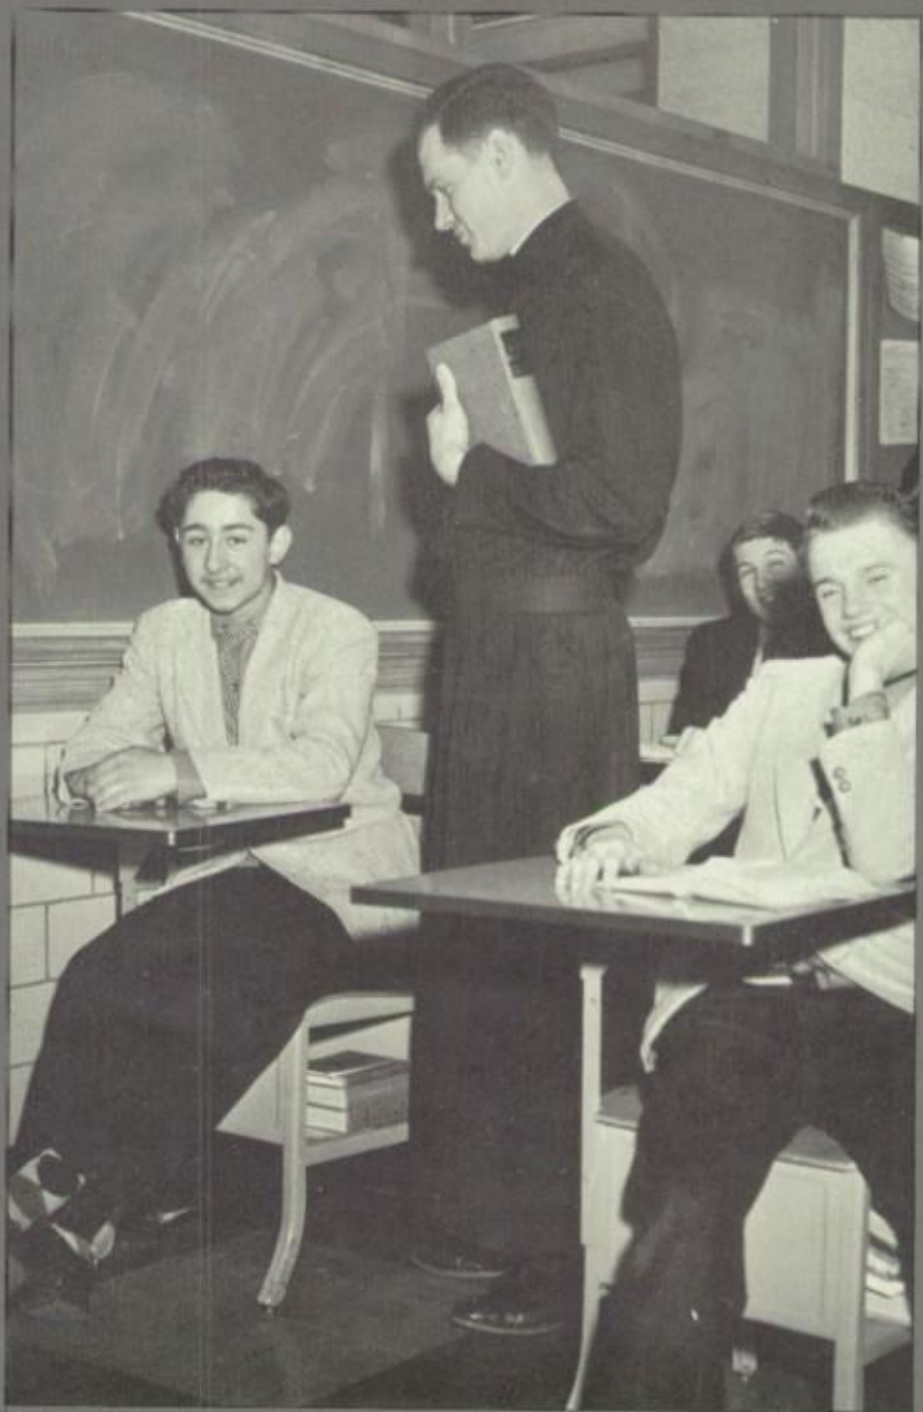

Reverend William J. Bauer, S.J.

On April 20, 1954 Canisius lost a devoted friend when death claimed Fr. William Bauer, S.J. Father had come to Canisius early in his priestly life and he spent three years here as our energetic student counsellor from 1950 to 1953. At the time of his death Fr. Bauer was principal at St. Peter's High School, Jersey City. Father made many great and lasting contributions to Canisius by which he earned our unending gratitude. Requiescat in pace.

Robert Infantino, Vice-President
Patrick Kester, Secretary
Daniel Casazza, Treasurer

An introduction to 1A:

Our Frosh Debaters were ably represented by Quinlan, Weiss, McCully, Werdel, and Kester. After his initial performance we are led to expect great things of our budding thespian, Nash. Zink and Sweeney sparked the J.V. Football team, while Smith wielded a vicious megaphone for the Cheerleaders.

The Day at Canisius:

 Salvatore Zambito, Treasurer

Spotlight on 1B. The Sodality and Berchmans Society have a heavy representation from our class. Pellegrine is a moving spirit on the Chess team. DeNisco and Mazzara proved rugged linemen for the J.V. Football team. Simpson is a backcourt whiz for the Aclions. Naples, Zambito and Yakam spark the Frosh Basketball team.

1D

Thomas Martone, President
 Thomas Krug, Vice-President
 Paul Crotty, Secretary
 Paul Zadner, Treasurer

1D Diehards: We had the best record for attendance at Duces and Jug. Pache and McLaughlin led the Cross Country team over hill and dale, but never over the finish line. Krug stars for the regular Basketball team while Huebbers plays for the king-size Frosh team. Crotty defends Free Trade for the debating team. The Berchmans Society, the Rowing Team, and Orchestra are also well represented.

 Kenneth Komodzinski, Secretary
 Francis Morone, Treasurer

What's 3B been up to? Well the Rome of Canisius' 3 political parties have united. Our gridiron fantasies Komodzinski, Piciulo, Morone, Tomasello and Cosgrove represent Catiline's bloc. The only quintet that can argue both sides of a question and prove you wrong on either are Godfrey, Coppola, Liotti, O'Shaughnessy and Wendling, which represent Cicero's senatorial party. We have our own class paper, The Dailey Worker, and our class officers are all honorable men?

David Casey, President
Joseph Scibetta, Vice-President
Robert Ambuske, Secretary
Joseph McKenna, Treasurer

Introducing 3C: Our class has a swelling representation in school activities. The Thespian Society claims Frank, and on the other side of the curtains are Keller and Lenahan. The champion football squad featured Di Martina, Panneri and Zielinski. We also have Ryan on J.V. Football, Eldridge on the swimming team, as well as on the cheerleader squad. Other members of the class spice track, crew, Sodality and debating.

Memorabilia of the Year 1954-1955

and some things not quite so memorable

LATIN IV

"And here's the year" as the comic star of our school year, George Gobel, would say. In September, however, as the nervous freshmen, important sophomores, battle-scarred juniors and calloused seniors trudged down Delaware Avenue, George was just an unknown guitar player trying to string along a few faithful listeners. Before the school year was over though, George would be as popular as the voice of the morning announcements, Don Fisher.

That September morning, however, all these bright spots of the scholastic year lay ahead of us. A farewell trip on the Canadiana, a quick rummage through the hall closet for dog-eared textbooks to peddle to the underclassmen, and school began. The first few days passed quickly and quietly as they always do. The new teachers showed they meant business and it was not long before things were humming. The inevitable thunderstorm arrived in time to make the walk to the cathedral for the Mass of the Holy Ghost a memorable affair. The rain, we must note, like jug was to be always with us, especially during the football season.

September 20th dawned a portentous day for the Student Council reconvened and Bob Kirchgraber celebrated the occasion by making the first of his many startling suggestions.

He suggested that February 21 be a holiday. The matter was referred to Father Kirsch who neatly countered with the annual appeal that the students' cars be removed from the black top. Three victories in football and the month passed into history.

October: The daily rosary began. This month of Our Lady proved satisfactory for the sons of Canisius. After the underclassmen retreat given by Fr. Thomas Burke, S.J., the activities began to pick up steam and get rolling. Our football juggernaut was demolishing the opposition. On a truly unforgettable evening, October 15th, a sprinkling of hurricane-soaked fans saw them score a muddy victory over Timon at Civic Stadium. Our backfield appeared in bathing suits at the beginning of the second half and they were the only comfortable people in the place as they ran rings around the water-logged Timon defenders.

THE CALL OF THE WILD

About this time the parents began to enter in the activities. At the end of the month, the Father and Son Communion breakfast was held with about one thousand young and old Canisius men attending the mass at St. Michael's and the breakfast at the Statler. A week earlier on October 22nd an Old Timers' Night was held for the St. Joe's game. Complete with gay nine-ties' costumes and a 1913 Stanley Steamer contributed for the occasion by a local auto dealer, the students of Canisius, Nardin Academy, Mt. St. Mary's and Holy Angels staged a fine half time show. The football team missed the spectacle as they listened to half time words of wisdom that finally won the game for us by a slender six points.

This was the month of the closed retreat. For four days the Seniors stayed at Derby. Fr. McCarthy and Fr. Connolly provided the spiritual direction during those days, days that the seniors will remember as long as they remember Canisius.

November: Dancing classes were in full swing now and the more proficient had an opportunity to display their new found talents at a rally dance for the football team. Our sodalists gave a novel rendition (literally, a tearing apart) of a scene from "Julius Caesar" at the Variety Show. One week later our more serious minded thespians brought off a commendable performance of "The Merchant of Venice". Mosey excelled as young Gobbo, Paa as Shylock. Kirchgraber, incidentally took time off from the rehearsal schedule to attend the student council and again to suggest that February 21st be a holiday. Fr. Kirsch again countered with a suggestion that student parking on the black top be discontinued. On the Thanksgiving week-end the football team celebrated their league championship with a dance. A few hopeful aspirants for the basketball team kept shooting foul shots during the intermission, but otherwise it was a highly successful affair.

Quintarelli created a mild stir to close the month by setting off a junior size atom bomb of the third floor. Repercussions followed for weeks.

December: The mite boxes began their daily tour of the classrooms shepherded around by a few suspects from the Brink's robbery. Despite this fact receipts kept mounting and augured well for the Christmas baskets. College Career night came and the seniors found that more than interscholastic chess competition was required to get them into college. A marked improvement in studies was noted until the Christmas fever settled over the student body about December 9th. The holidays approached quickly interrupted by one basketball victory and one defeat. Finally December 22nd dawned. The Christmas assembly passed off quickly, the Christmas baskets were filled, and for the first long stretch since September the jug room was empty.

January: Here we go again. No sooner were we back in class than the examinations were upon us. From the 14th till the 24th the old blue-books were toiled over by student and faculty alike. The mid-term holiday was the calm before the storm. Father and Son night was held that evening and featured foul shooting contests and other entertainment. Report cards were distributed two days later. Several found that they had earned black and blue seals and the inquiries about conditions began. The school took time off at this period to bid farewell to Mr. Graziano, S.J., who was assigned to the Japanese mission.

February: Back to normalcy. The student Council followed up their resolution declaring February 21st a holiday by proposing a student court that was to end all injustices(???). The court was to review all punishments assigned by student proctors and it was to be the court of final appeals. A lively discussion about the practicality of the court, fomented by the Citadel, kept the corridors buzzing. One constructive endeavor of the Council at this period was the highly successful Valentine Dance. The novel commercials plugging the dance on the public address system, especially the one by Lucky Pierre Girdlestone, were matched by the elaborate efforts of the decoration committee. Incidentally February 21st came a week later: school as usual. A purge of the Student Council followed as everyone cried for the scalp of Georgi Kirchgraber.

March: The Acrions fell two points short of an undefeated season in Memorial Auditorium losing the last game of the season to the Police Athletic League All Stars. The Varsity basketball team went their pogo stick way, up and down. They failed to bounce high enough in the final games and did not reach the play-offs. Of course a triple overtime loss to Fallon by two points was not figured to brighten their spirits or to help the ulcers of the coach. At this point the Passion Play cast took over the auditorium, sandwiching in their rehearsals between the final intramural games. After 4D won the basketball championship, the faculty unearthed a prehistoric game called volleyball which caught on fast. Since the faculty were the only ones who knew the rules they managed to win a few early games, but by mid-April most of their stars went on the voluntarily retired list. March 17th was celebrated in true Hibernian fashion with a Mass in Old Sloyinian. Quiet then descended for a few days till the Passion Play began in earnest. Short periods, crowds in the foyer, and a fine production on stage, marked the run of the play. Joe Girdlestone, Mosey, Nalbach and others gave very creditable and inspirational performances.

April: The Easter vacation. Several varsity players spent the holidays in the gym generously helping out with our first annual tournament for the parochial grammar school basketball teams. Then one fine Saturday the prospective freshman class arrived for the entrance exam. The seniors, strengthened by the sight, began to take stock before graduation. Coach Barnes started drills for the baseball team, but he forgot to inform the weather bureau and Lake Erie of our plans, so cold damp weather continued.

May: The madcap month. The auditorium re-echoed with the prize debate and the Oratorical contest. The sports dinner was held in the homey confines of the cafeteria (without those ever present proctors) and it was well attended. Kleinhans rocked to polkas and the bunny hop in late May when the Senior Prom hit the scene. Class picnics began in earnest and the owners of the Canadiana, cheered by the prospect, shovelled the last few inches of snow from the upper deck and were ready for business. The days remaining on the school calendar were whittled down to zero.

June: What is so rare as that day in June, the final class day. Ah, but wait, there is that slight matter of the province examinations. One by one they are conquered and finally the end is here. The underclassmen bow out of the picture gracefully, but only after introducing a resolution that February 21st be a holiday next year, and the seniors have the school to themselves. June 19th, the afternoon is hot, but that little diploma and the four years associated with it, make up for everything. Farewell to the class of '55.

BY THE SKIN OF THEIR TEETH

A Final Historical Note on

The Arena

"In the year 1915, the Arena, a fortnightly publication, was started at Canisius High School. It boasts of being the first and only publication the High School ever had. Some years later it became a quarterly with a Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter number, the final issue being the Yearbook. The explanation for the title, the Arena, is that the editors would be proud to see the sons of Canisius hold an honorable place in the athletic world, but prouder still to see her sons crowned in the literary arena. These hopes and aspirations of the first editors have been met on numerous occasions, for ever since the magazine has been strictly a literary magazine, hardly a year has gone by in which some scholastic award was not given to the school for its literary work. Some of the awards have been local, many others have been national. Its crown is piled high with laurel wreaths."
